

NCDOT WILDFLOWER PROGRAM

NCDOT PROMOTES POLLINATORS

Welcome to this POLLINATOR FRIENDLY REST AREA.

Since 1985, the North Carolina Department of Transportation (NCDOT) has been planting wildflowers and other plants that provide pollen, nectar, or habitat for pollinators like bees and butterflies. Milkweed has been installed at this facility to support MONARCH BUTTERFLIES during their annual migration through North Carolina.

Without pollinators, we would lose 1/3 of the food we enjoy each day.

This rest area planting is a cooperative effort with our local sponsor NEW LEAF SOCIETY (<http://www.newleafsociety.org>) of Alamance County.
